That's Why Sampson Sues for Such Steep Damages.

A suit that promises to become interesting is being brought against the Seaboard and Roanoke railroad, which is under the control of the Seaboard Air-Line system, by Carl A. Sampson, the strong man and manager of the Trocadero.

Sampson claims $7,500 damages, and has shown his receipts in the hands of B. H. & C. D. Hill, of this city.

The amount of damages claimed by the plaintiff will not in the least cover his losses, as he says, for he had among the many other things destroyed when his paraphernalia was burned, about sixty gold and silver medals presented to him by the crowned heads of Europe.

"Last October I made arrangements with the Seaboard Air-Line to ship my paraphernalia, a miniature Ferris wheel, with which I gave a unique and most novel exhibition of my power of lifting weights, to the New York Exposition of the World's Fair, and came to Atlanta to do so after an hour after and came by the way of the old Dominion steamship line to Fort-Phillips, where the miniature Ferris wheel, which that place was burned in a fire that occurred. Whether the Old Dominion line or the Seaboard line had him in their respective hands, I don't know."

I made the contract with the Seaboard line for transportation, of course I am only concerned with them. Since I have been here I have been unable to give several of my valuable medals without the aid of my paraphernalia, and have lost money thereby, and also I am losing money every day by being unable to bring my engagements in London, where I am booked for a six weeks' engagement at present. I had thirty very valuable medals, which were given by the crowned heads of Russia, Prussia, Austria, and many other European monarchs, which, of course, I can never replace. I have put my case in the hands of attorneys, and I am sure that they will be successful in bringing suit for damages of $7,500, which will not by any means cover the loss."

The Seaboard people say that the goods were burned in the hands of the old Dominion steamship company when burned and that the loss was the loss far beyond the actual value. The suit will come up on the first Monday in March.

FOR MAKING DOLLARS.

South Carolina Veteran on His Way to the Columbus Penitentiary.

Deputy United States Marshal H. J. Chickenson, of Charleston, S. C., reached the city last night having in charge Dick Johnson, a sixty-five-year-old man, who is being taken to the Columbus, O., penitentiary for serving the life term sentence for counterfeiting the coin of the country. Marshal Hickson secured a night's lodging for his prisoner at the police station last night, arriving too late to make connection with a north bound train for Columbus. He will leave this morning with a private steak and other eatables.

Johnson was convicted in Charleston a few days ago of making counterfeit silver dollars. He is an old Confederate veteran and at that account got a light sentence. He is strong and able to do any kind of work, but appears to be well physically.

BYRNES SENT UP.

The Man Who Threw Soup Sent to the Stockade.

Byrnes, the man from New York who threw soup in the face of Turnkey Debus at the police station Tuesday at New York serving the life term sentence in the city stockade for his conduct. He is arraigned in Judge Calhoun's police court yesterday for disorderly conduct in a station house and the court assessed a $15 for his inappreciative action in washing the turnkey in the face with soup and steak and other eatables.

Byrnes is a character. He is beyond the training point of life and appears to be a man of strange mind. Physically he is almost a wreck, being at least a hundred years, part of a skull and a good many other parts possessed by the ordinary mortals. He is an old man, and has been blown away in a steamboat explosion in New York a few years ago. He claims New York as his home, and he was yesterday taken to the station house Monday night for the first time he boldly stated that he was the perpetrator of the charges of the New York police department. Byrnes, Turnkey Debus met at a boarding house on Broadway avenue two months ago. At that time Byrnes was drunk and raised a hell at the house, but the officer present was determined to keep quiet and allowed him to remain there.

A DESPERATE NEGRO.

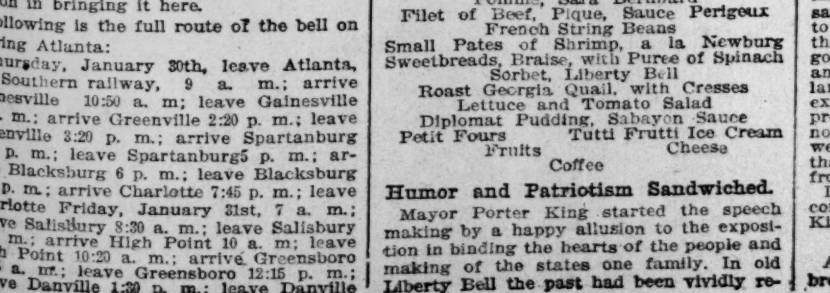

Officer Wootton Has a Dangerous Experience with Harry Coleman.

Deterring Detective Wootton, of the police force, had a lively and dangerous experience with Harry Coleman, one of the most dangerous negroes in the city, last night. Coleman had a long knife in his hand, and threatened to cut the officer to pieces.

Wootton and another negro got into a quarrel in a Decatur street, and the negro, trying the place when Officer Wootton opened to pass the place and ran in, drew his pistol and separated the negro from Coleman. Coleman was determined to prevent the negro using his knife, and threatened to cut the officer to pieces before he would submit to being taken to the station house. Officer Whitley, attending the case, was called to the scene, and was finally locked in a cell without giving any great amount of damage.

He was taken to the station house, and he is a wooden-legged negro and a

WEDDING BELLS RING.

Miss Allene Stocking and Mr. Sumner Clark Married—Other Matrimonial Events in Atlanta and Georgia.

The marriage yesterday of Mr. Charles Sumner Clark and Miss Allene Stocking was one of the most beautiful and impressive that ever occurred in Atlanta, and was witnessed by an unusually large and stylish assemblage of Atlanta's representative society.

Promptly at 11:30 o'clock the bridal party entered the church, the ushers preceding the bridesmaids and maid of honor, while the groom and his best man, Mr. Sherman Clark, with Rev. Mr. McCormick, met the bride and her father at the foot of the altar. The ushers were Messrs. Melvin H. Black, of Atlanta; Allen Wrenn, of Memphis, the Messrs. Arbunot, of Pittsburg, and Mr. Thomas Clark, of Pittsburg. The bridesmaids followed the ushers in the following order: Misses Iza Glenn and Minnie Cabanis, Miss Emily English, Misses Gussie Grady and Julia Clark. Miss Kate Stocking, the maid of honor, preceded the bride and her father.

The beautiful ceremony of the Episcopal church was gracefully performed by Mr. McCormick, and the occasion was marked by unusual dignity and solemnity. The church decorations in white and green were simple and elegant. The altar was covered with an elaborate cloth of white satin embroidered in green and gold. About the chancel rail was a festoon of white chiffon, held in place by love knots of white satin ribbon and bunches of white roses and delicate sprays of asparagus ferns. Bows of white roses and lilies on the altar, with many palms placed gracefully about, completed an effect of bridal loveliness.

Miss Stocking, whose beautiful face, queenly bearing and charms of manner have distinguished her wherever she went, ever appeared to better advantage than on the occasion of her wedding. She has the clear-cut features and beautiful fresh coloring that suggest the most aristocratic type of the English woman, and is always superb in her stylish tail gowns. Her costume of yesterday was heavy tan cloth, made in strictly tail style, with a rich brocade of the English woman, and is always superb in her stylish tail gowns. Her hat was one of those indiscreet French combinations, with violet and blue ribbon, giving the necessary touch of color to the tan tulle of which the crown was formed.

She wore white gloves and carried bride roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaids wore exquisite toilets of pale gray cloth, the skirts and full sleeves being of that material. The bodices were of white with a rich, wide white crepe lisse embroidered in silver, the same exquisite trimming being used in the finish of the sleeves. Gainsborough hats of black velvet, with ruffling plumes and large bouquets of La France roses completed the charming costumes.

Miss Stocking is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Stocking, and since her debut in Atlanta society has been one of its most courted and admired members. She has had the advantages of travel and education, and is distinguished by her many charms of beauty and nature that have made her most interesting and universally popular.

Mr. Charles Sumner Clark is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, of Pittsburg, and as proprietor and editor of one of the leading newspapers of that city is prominent in the world of business and society. During his frequent visits to Atlanta, he has made many warm friends, who heartily congratulate him on his beautiful bride.

The bridal party and immediate relatives were entertained at a delightful breakfast at the residence of the bride, after which the church ceremony. The house was appropriately decorated and the bride table was decorated with flowers and greenery. The bridesmaids were graceful in their white and green costumes, and the bride herself was a picture of beauty and grace.

The wedding gifts were numerous and handsome. Mr. and Mrs. Clark will spend the remainder of the winter in California, and left on the vestibule for New Orleans.

McLellan-Smith. The marriage of Mr. James Emmett Smith and Miss Grace Lee McLellan yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock was an event of much interest to the many friends of the contracting parties in this city. The ceremony was solemnized at the residence of the bride's mother, Miss Lela Smith, of Madison, was maid of honor. Dr. N. O. Harris, best man. The ceremony was performed in a beautiful and impressive manner by Rev. Dr. L. L. Butolph, of Marietta.

The bride is one of the most popular young ladies of Atlanta, and is well known for her many accomplishments. Mr. Smith is a young man of sterling worth. He holds a high position with the Southern Railway in this city, and numbers his friends among the most prominent of the city. The bride was attired in a rich and handsome traveling dress. After receiving the congratulations of their friends, the newly married couple departed for their honeymoon. The wedding was a most successful and happy one.

A Coming Wedding. The next prominent event in the social world will be the wedding of Miss Venable and Dr. James N. Ellis, of Richmond, Va. The invitations are unusually unique and read: "Mrs. S. C. Venable will give in marriage her daughter, Lela, to Dr. James N. Ellis on Wednesday, February 2nd, at half-past seven o'clock in the P.M. Presbyterian church, Atlanta, Ga. You are invited to be present, attending the friendship and popularity of the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Smith left immediately for Florida resorts."

A HOUSE DIVIDED.

Mr. John Beeks Asks for a Total Divorce from His Wife.

WILL OF M'KINLEY FILED Judge Tanner States That He Has Made Several Propositions to Mr. W. H. Black.

A rather sensational petition for divorce was filed in Clerk Tanner's office yesterday morning by Mr. John Beeks, a well-known citizen of Griffin.

The suit is against Mrs. Nicy Beeks, and the parties at issue have many friends in Atlanta. They lived in Griffin for quite a while, but after the couple separated they removed from the house in which they had been living.

Mr. John Beeks, in his petition, states that he was married November 28, 1888, and that he lived with his wife until February 22, 1893. On the night of February 22, between the hours of 8 and 10 o'clock his wife left the room without saying where she was going, and without his consent locked the door. The petitioner of his wife aroused his suspicions and he went to a window and watched to see what she was going to do.

From his position in the room he says he saw her in the yard in the company of a man by the name of Will Martin. Beeks was satisfied that his wife was unfaithful to him, and he has since lived with her, he states. After the scene in the yard that night Beeks approached Martin and asked him what had transpired that night. Martin did not deny the accusations made by Beeks, it is alleged, whereupon he was given a severe beating by the enraged husband. The petitioner states that he has since administered a much severer whipping, but that Martin ran away from him and he further believed that his wife was untrue.

The petitioner prays for a total divorce and asks that he be separated from his wife in a legal manner. He states that neither he nor his wife have any property in their name. The petition will be heard at the March term of the superior court, at which time the court is prayed to have Mr. Beeks present to show some way the petition should not be granted.

The Will of Jake McKinley. The last will and testament of Jake McKinley was filed for record in the office of Ordinary Calhoun yesterday morning. The aged negro signed the document several days before his death and disposed of his property in a most judicious manner. He gave his wife and children. While he gives his wife the title to the property and the right to use it as she sees fit, he suggests that she make the week a large house in building fund of the Episcopal church in West End. An attractive programme has been prepared and a very pleasant time is made the week a large house in building fund of the Episcopal church in West End.

A very novel and interesting entertainment will take place tonight at 8 o'clock at Caldwell's hall, corner Lee and Gordon streets, West End. It is called a "poverty party," and is given for the benefit of the building fund of the Episcopal church in West End. An attractive programme has been prepared and a very pleasant time is made the week a large house in building fund of the Episcopal church in West End.

Tampa, Fla., January 29.—(Special).—The gay social season at the Tampa Bay hotel has been enjoyed by many Georgians during the past week. The dances at the Inn and at the Tampa Bay hotel have conspired to make the week a large house in building fund of the Episcopal church in West End. An attractive programme has been prepared and a very pleasant time is made the week a large house in building fund of the Episcopal church in West End.

Will Face the Charges. Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock Ferdinand Salosin, the young Atlanta drummer who was arrested last night on a warrant from Columbus, issued at the instance of Mr. A. D. Green, proprietor of the central hotel, was carried back to Columbus and will face the charges there.

Sheriff Barnes was advised by wire that the amount of $100 had been deposited by Mr. Green and that amount was paid to the arresting officer on the arrival of the prisoner. On the strength of this telegram Sheriff Barnes issued a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Salosin, who was arrested last night on a warrant from Columbus, issued at the instance of Mr. A. D. Green, proprietor of the central hotel, was carried back to Columbus and will face the charges there.

Judge Tanner's Proposition. The case of W. H. Black, as filed yesterday against Mr. John Beeks, is a matter of prime importance with him. He has been a newspaper man on terms of camaraderie and good fellowship with him all he wants to know and a great deal more than he can print. Crane, Roland and his wife, who are the proprietors of the paper, are easy to reach and have their strongest friends among the newspaper men.

Hiram Lester, of McDonough, Ga., lived in the city for some time and was a well-known figure. He was a man of many talents and was a great deal more than he can print. Crane, Roland and his wife, who are the proprietors of the paper, are easy to reach and have their strongest friends among the newspaper men.

The space at the top of the ladder in railroad is constantly narrowing. And contention is not responsible for all, either. It requires a few more of the kind of the executive officials to operate the roads that now constitute the Southern Railway system. SOME WEEK DAY TOPICS.

Ingalls, the sour, cynical, gaunt and polished, was in Atlanta this week and wasn't interviewed.

Ingalls rarely is interviewed, yet he gets into the papers from time to time in connection with dodging questions. He came here three years ago, and wrote his name in cynical characters across the Kimball register. I sent my card up. I was shortly shown up to 108. A slightly-built, sharp-faced, keen-eyed, spectacled man in a long, close-fitting, black coat, with a high collar, met me and smiled faintly. There was a hospitable curve to his grayish mustache and goatee.

We talked together for a long while, I in an inquisitorial and anxious vein, he in an easy and gracefully elusive strain. After an hour I made a dash for it. The information I had gleaned from him, and it consisted of the two interesting statements that it was a nice day and that Atlanta was a nice city.

I talked around to the subject of politics as often as I could dispose of the weather. He said it was a nice day, and we talked about the weather. We finally made ourselves understood by each other.

"Oh," he said, with a gracious smile, "you want me to say something about politics, eh? You know I don't like to talk about politics for the papers; but I'll do so to make you happy. I always write my interviews. Suppose you leave a list of all the questions you want to ask me and I will answer them in my next issue. I'll have them ready, and you can just slip the interview to the printer. Very good, eh? Here's some paper for you."

I wrote out the questions, thanked the polite senator and went away to wait until that day when I could go to him. The transaction of the portal was all dark, rapped hard on the door. No response. I rapped and rapped again.

"What do you want there?" said a waspish voice from within. "Can't you let a man sleep?" An interview? Questions? Oh, I forgot to send them down. They were where you left them on the table. Goodnight."

Ingalls is not often interviewed. Interviewing is not the easy part of newspapering. It depends upon your man. Some men will give you all the information you want to know, and some will not. It is a matter of the man, and it is a matter of the man.

Newspaper men everywhere will tell you that Vice President Stevenson is easy to interview. He is a man of many talents and is a great deal more than he can print. Crane, Roland and his wife, who are the proprietors of the paper, are easy to reach and have their strongest friends among the newspaper men.

The easiest man to interview is an actor. No man is so easy to interview as an actor. He is a man of many talents and is a great deal more than he can print. Crane, Roland and his wife, who are the proprietors of the paper, are easy to reach and have their strongest friends among the newspaper men.

MADE UP OF VETS.

A Military Company Composed Entirely of Ex-Confederates To Be Formed.

PRELIMINARY STEPS TAKEN

Will Be Ready for the Annual Encampment at Richmond and Will Go to New York July 4th.

A military company will be organized in Atlanta very soon, composed entirely of confederate veterans.

The Atlanta branch of the United Confederate Veterans is one of the largest in the country, it having a membership of six or seven hundred vets who fought under the stars and bars in the late civil war. The camp was organized some time ago, and every few weeks meetings are held.

A few nights ago about a dozen of the most prominent members of the camp held a meeting in the office of W. L. Calhoun, and among other things discussed was a plan for organizing a uniformed company among the camp.

Among those present at the meeting were Judge Calhoun, Colonel L. P. Thomas, Captain W. W. Draper, Colonel John Milne, Major Thomas, Captain T. B. Neal, Captain R. M. Clayton, Dr. Amos Fox, Captain George B. Forbes, W. B. Burke, Dr. K. C. Devine and Captain Frank Myers.

The meeting was held principally for the purpose of discussing the organization of the company, and every one present enthusiastically in favor of organizing as soon as possible, so as to be in uniform at Richmond this summer.

Several of the above named gentlemen made speeches on the proposition of organizing a company, and all left with the understanding that a company is to be organized.

A meeting of the camp will be held on the second Monday in next month, at which the question will be fully discussed and no doubt before the meeting closes names will be enrolled upon the list of the new uniformed military company.

The officers who met and discussed the proposition the other night are of the opinion that out of the six or seven hundred members of the camp they will get about 100 to join the company. A large number have already proposed to buy uniforms and enlist.

One of the main reasons for wanting a real uniform and disciplined military company is this: Each year a large number of the Atlanta veterans go to the annual encampment of the United Confederate Veterans' Association, and it is desired that they should go in uniform and under command of officers in a regular military manner. The company also would be recognized as one of Atlanta's military companies, and would be called out to parade on all occasions requiring such. It would be the only military company of its kind in the city, composed entirely of confederate veterans—in the state.

The company is organized, which seems a certainty, the members will attend the annual encampment at Richmond this summer on the 30th of June and the 1st and 2d of July.

From there they will go to New York to join in the grand parade being arranged for the 4th of July in that city. Prominent leaders of the blue and the gray are arranging for 1,000 veterans who wore the gray and thousands who wore the blue to meet in New York on the day of independence and parade on Broadway. Atlanta will have a large number there, and doubtless the new uniformed company will be in line.

MILLIONS AT STAKE

Georgia Mining, Manufacturing and Investment Company Reorganizes.

COMMITTEE MET YESTERDAY

The Majority of the Creditors Have Agreed to the Plan and the Reorganization Will Be Perfected.

The reorganization committee appointed at a recent meeting of the creditors of the Georgia Mining, Manufacturing and Investment Company, held a meeting yesterday, at which the proposition which has been mailed the creditors of the company was practically adopted.

This is ex-Senator Joe Brown's company, which controls the large mining interests in north Georgia.

Eighty per cent of the creditors have signified their willingness to accept the proposition, and the remaining 20 per cent are but small holders in the interests of the company. The committee expects that all will accept the terms of a final settlement and the creditors have been invited to send in their certificates of indebtedness in order that they may be canceled and new certificates may be issued on the plan that has been presented.

Just what is the nature of the plan of reorganization has not been given out to the public, as the attorneys stated yesterday that they desired the creditors to have an opportunity to consider the plan before it was made public and that any publicity given to it might be detrimental to the success of the new organization.

The committee which has been entrusted with the authority to complete the reorganization, is composed of Mr. Clifford Anderson, chairman, Colonel Glenn, Mr. Lurton Smith, D. B. Hamilton and Franklin Weld. The meeting yesterday afternoon was held at 3 o'clock in the office of Mr. Anderson, and the entire committee was present. The plan for reorganization was read and the acceptances of the majority of the creditors signified. The plan is said to place the creditors into three classes: The preferred creditors, or first mortgage; the next in order, or second mortgage; and the smaller creditors are made stockholders in the company in proportion to the amount of their present holdings. In other words the new organization will be covered by mortgages filed in favor of the preferred creditors, as their interests may appear; second mortgage holders, in other words, then be filed in favor of those to whom the company is indebted in a smaller amount, and those creditors who are owed but little will be secured by stock issued to them. It is in this manner that the company is to be placed on a strong footing.

The Georgia Mining, Manufacturing and Investment Company owns the Duke Coal mines, Rising Fawn and many furnaces and mineral lands in various portions of north Georgia. It also owns a blast furnace in Chattanooga, and railroad property in Bartow county.

The company is the lessee of convicts and does a very large business and has property amounting in value to several millions of dollars. It is the opinion of the committee that the affairs of the company will prosper under the new plan.

It is very probable that the name of the company will be changed, and that it will be incorporated under a new charter. The name of one of the companies of which the present company is composed is the Georgia Mining, Manufacturing and Investment Company. This name has not been announced yet, as final arrangements will be made at the next meeting of the committee. This meeting will be called by Chairman Anderson as soon as he hears from all of the creditors and the securities now held are sent in for cancellation.

The company was placed in the hands of Mr. Julius Brown several months ago, when he was named by the court as receiver. In his report, filed with the court, he stated that the company was being conducted at a loss. The last report is more favorable and there seems to be a change in the tide of affairs. Mr. Anderson said yesterday afternoon that the new plan would secure for the company a business foundation and the valuable property would be placed in a splendid condition and could be conducted at a profit in the future.

SENT TO DECATUR.

BETTIE BROOKS REFUSED TO GO HOME YESTERDAY.

Her Mother Came for Her, but the Country Girl Had to Be Taken by Force.

Bettie Brooks, the young country girl who was found on a bridge two weeks ago, and who has been in the care of the police since, has at last been disposed of by the local department. She was taken to Decatur yesterday morning and turned over to the ordinary of DeKalb county.

Mrs. Brooks, the girl's mother, read in The Constitution a day or two ago that her daughter had been returned from the Home of the Friendless to the police, and she came to Atlanta after Bettie yesterday. When she asked her daughter to go back home the girl refused to do so, stamping her foot in her cell at the station and declaring that she would never go home again.

The girl's unhappy mother pleaded with her to go home, but to no avail. Bettie acts very strangely and it is thought that her mind is unbalanced. Mrs. Brooks declared that she would only get her daughter back to DeKalb county by having her turned over to the authorities of that county. She asked Chief Connelly to send Miss Brooks to Decatur in charge of an officer, stating that she would take out a writ of lunacy to have the station and Officer John Abbott was detailed to carry the girl to Decatur and accompanied by the mother went there.

WANT ATLANTA TALENT.

Two Atlanta Detectives Wanted for Mardi Gras Service.

Chief of Police D. S. Gaston, of New Orleans, wants two of Chief Connelly's best detectives to come to that city during the Mardi Gras season. Chief Connelly is in receipt of a letter asking that two men be sent from the Atlanta department.

Chief Connelly has not yet made a decision about sending the officers, but he thinks that the experience would be valuable to the Atlanta department if two detectives were sent. Crooks from every section will be in New Orleans, and men from Atlanta would have opportunity of learning their faces and records, enabling them to apprehend the criminals should they visit Atlanta after the celebration in the Crescent City.

DOING GOOD WORK.

New Detectives Making a Record for Themselves Already.

The new detective department is doing good work, so many of the officers are for detective duty have recovered a large amount of stolen goods and arrested a number of burglars and sneak thieves. As their experience in detective work widens the service improves and Chief Connelly thinks that his men will continue to do better work.

The detectives arrested three alleged burglars yesterday, Sep King, Will Dillard and Milton Payne. They are accused of recent burglaries and thefts. Officers Bankston, Gorse and Taylor made the arrests. Detective Powell recovered a lost pocketbook, containing a large sum of money. It was found by a citizen and turned over to the detective, who delivered it to the owner.

RAYMOND FOR ASSAULT.

THE BLUE-EYED BOY HELD FOR THE COURTS.

He and Clinch Suttles Accused of Attacking a Negro with a Knife and Using Him Up.

Harry Raymond, the blue-eyed, whose fame is wide, is running the gamut of the courts at present. He is now locked up at police headquarters awaiting trial on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

Raymond was convicted in the police court several days ago for disorderly conduct on the streets. He was unable to pay a $15 fine at the time and was sent to the stockade. Yesterday his fine was paid and he was returned to the city, but held on the state charge.

Raymond's trouble grew out of an alleged assault made on a negro on Decatur street by him and Clinch Suttles, a young man who made himself notorious sometime ago by having a shotgun at his father and threatening to shoot. The two young men are accused of cutting the negro's face terribly, and then leading him with their fists. Both escaped but were arrested later.

The negro, Jim Jones, swore out warrants against Raymond and Suttles and Suttles is at work in the stockade on the city sentence. Raymond will be tried before a justice of the peace today and Suttles will be given the same dose when his case is completed. Raymond claims that Suttles cut the negro. He says that he only punched Jones with an umbrella.

MR. STOCKDELL THANKED.

Grady Hospital Trustees Appreciate a Donation Made Them.

At the meeting of the board of trustees of the Grady hospital Tuesday afternoon a vote of thanks was extended Mr. H. C. Stockdell for the donation of a lot of bed sheets and mattresses for use at the hospital. The things were accepted with the appreciation of the board. By a typographical error it was stated that President Hirsch, Dr. Spaulding and Mr. Elms were present at the meeting. All were absent on account of illness.

OUTSIDERS DID THE WINNING.

The Talent Could Only Pick Two Winners in Five.

New Orleans, La., January 29.—This was "drawing in" day and seven books went on. Sam May, of St. Louis, was among the number. Two favorites and three outsiders took the money. Starter Fitzgerald had apparently lost all control of the jockeys, and the result was long delays at the post and very bad starts. Those in the third and last races were particularly bad. Farnesian had the two-year-old race and the jockey, who was an outsider, was in the rut.

The winner has participated in nearly all two-year-old races for some time. He was the public and the books doubters' favorite. The winner was in the rut.
